

Did you know that a cow doesn't really have four stomachs? A cow actually has one stomach with four compartments. The compartments help it digest all that water and food.